

2013 Youth Catalytics Webinar Series

Beyond Training: Developing Your Direct Care Staff

Thursday February 14, 2013
1:00-2:00 PM

Direct-care staff members are the core of any youth serving organization. Research has shown that employee development programs make positive contributions to organizational performance and improve outcomes for those they serve. Furthermore, the number and quality of employee development opportunities is highly correlated to employee retention. Developing our direct care workforce is thus good for our clients, our employees and our organizations.

Please join us for "Beyond Training" to learn more about employee development. We will discuss who benefits from employee development and how organizations can create - or no-cost development strategies in a time of tight organizational budgets. We will discuss how and when to have "the talk" with staff around employee development. Finally, you will have the opportunity to participate in a development planning practice activity. Our promise is that you will leave this webinar with ideas for staff development that you can implement immediately.

Please visit www.youthcatalytics.org for a full description of the webinar and its learning objectives.
